The County Convention.

The late hour at which the County Convention concluded its labors this afternoon. renders it imposssble for us to bestow any lengthy comments upon its action in solecting candidates for office. It must be sufficient, therefore, for us to say that the Convention had a proper apprehension of the everlasting fitness of things, and named the right men for the right places, The re-nomination of all the old officers by such a decided unanimity, is a compliment lication in your excellent paper, you will as well deserved as it was generously be-

A SACRED RIGHT. The Quincy While says that at the copporhead meeting recently held at Springfield, Ill., during the entire day a banner was prominently displayed at the main stand representing a white us with thoughts of gratitude, for the man with his foot upon the throat of a prostrate negro, the tongue of the negro protruding from his mouth in the agony of auffection. On this banner was painted— "This the White Man's Right," This banner, it will be noticed, was not simply permitted on the ground because its display ing. could not be prevented, but was allowed to flaunt its atrocious emblem where the officers of the meeting had full control. Where else than in a copperhead assemblage would such an exhibition be allowed to have been made? No severity of comto have been made? No severity of comment can add to the simple statement of : The following letter from General Sher-

John A. Spooner, Esq., Agent for the .Commonwealth of Massachusetts,

Nashville, Tenn.: Sin: Yours from Chattanooga, July 28th, is received, notifying me of your ap pointment by your State as Lieut. Colonel and Provost Marshal of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, under the act of Congress approved July 4,01804, to recruit volunteers to be credited to the States re-

"E." 4th Wisconsin Cavalry. Therefore resolved, That in the death of privates On applying to Gen. Webster, at Nashville, he will grant you a pass through our lines to those States, and, as I have had considerable experience in those States, would suggest recruiting depots to be established at Macon and Columbus, Miss., Selma, Montgomery and Mobile, Ala, and Columbus, Milledgeville and

Savannah, Ga. 1 - 2 I.I do not see that the law restricts you to black recruits, but you are at liberty to collect white recruits, also. It is a waste of time and money to open rendezvous in Northwest Georgia, for 1 assure you tnat I have not seen an able-bodied man, black or white, there, fit for a soldier, who was not in this army or the one opposed to it.

You speak of the impression going abroad that I am opposed to the organization of colored regiments.

My opinious are usually very positive, and there is no reason, why you should not know them. Though enfertaining profound, rever-ence for our Congress, I do doubt their wisdom in the passage of this law: 1. Because civilian agents about an army are a nuisance. 2. The duty of citizens to fight for their country is too sacred a one to be peddled off by buying up the refuse of other States: 3. It is unjust to the brave soldiers and volunteers who are fighting, as those who compose this army do, to place them on a par with the class of recruits you are The negro is in a transition state, and is not the equal of the white man.

He is liberated from his bondage by act of war; and the armies in the field are entitled to all his assistance in labor and lighting, in addition to the proper quotas

6. This hidding and bartering for re-cruits, white and black, has delayed the reinforcement of our armies at the time when such reinforcements would have enabled us to make our successes perma-

The law is an experiment, which pending war, is unwise and unsafe, and has delayed the universal draft which I firmly believe will become necessary to overcome the widespread resistance offered us; and I also believe that the universal draft will be wise and beneficial; for under the Providence of God it will separate the Sheep from the Goats, and demonstrate what citizens will fight for their country,

No one will infer from this that I am not a friend of the negro-as well as the white race; I contend that the treason and rebellion of the master freed the slave and the armies I have commanded have conducted to safe points more negroes than those of any General Officer in the army; bilit I prefer negroes for pioneers, teamsters, cooks and servants, others gradually to experiment in the art of the soldier, beginning with the duties of local garrisons, such as we had at Memphis, Vicksburg, Natchez, Nashville and Chattanooga; but I would not draw on the poor race for too large a proportion of its active, athletic young men, for some must remain to seek new homes and provide for the old and young—the feeble and, helpless.

These are some of my peculiar notions, but I assure you they are shared by a large proportion of our fighting men. You may show this to the agents of the other States, in the same business as yourself. I am, &c. T. W. Sherman, [signed].

engagement occurred yesterday two miles beyond Charlestown, between the Army of Western Virginia and the rebol force now in the Shenandonh Valley. The battle commenced at 8 in the morning by a heavy column of rebel infantry attempting to pierce our front near Summit Point, and after a sharp but decisive struggle, our skirmirhers were compelled to give way. The 1st division of General Wilson and General Torbett's cavalry corps were engaged, and reinforced heavily. The movement had evidently for its object the possession of Martinsburg, for at the same time a fulse movement was made against our extreme left, but suddenly a body of rebels appeared in front of out right, consisting of the 6th, 8th and 19th Corps A short, but determined battle took place The 2d division lost heavily—some 300 wounded, 60 or 70 killed and missing. Our right drove the enemy over a mile, and then fell back to the old line until ten o'clock, when the entire army retired towards Halltown, where they now are in

Our forces on the railroad are strongly entrenched, and there is no prospect of the rebels being able to dislodge them. HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE (POTOMAC, August 21—Evening.—This morning the enemy made a vigorous attack on the 5th Corps, on the left of the Weldon Railread, at the same place where they were par-tially successful on Friday, but met with a different reception. Our line formed about the same time as on that day, the 1st division being on the extreme left, connecting with the cavalry, which cover-ed the railroad near Reams Station. Eurly this morning heavy cannonading was pened by the enemy from works further down towards Petersburg. Our guns re-plied briskly. Neither party, however, did the other any particular damage. About seven o'clock in the morning a force of the enemy were seen moving to make an attack on the 9th Corps; but a few well directed shells sent them out of sight quicker than they advanced. Shortly after a column of rebels emerged' from the woods on the left of the railroad, forming a line, and charging on what they thought our left flank, but which proved to be the left of General Ayers' front. The rebels advanced in fine style, with the utmost confidence, evidently thinking their work an easy piece of business, but what was their surprise on discovering a second line bellind and extending to the left of the first, from which a row of bayonets glistened, with a battery on the left and one on the right pouring fire into their ranks. Every discharge made large va-cancies in their line. As soon as they discovered the critical position in which they were placed, the entire command made signs to indicate their willingness to surrender. The order to cease firing passed along the breastworks; but as soon as they discovered this, a large portion of them broke and ran for the woods, the remainder coming in and surrendering. Our batteries sent several messengers atter the remaining party, many of whom embraced the earth, instead of reaching our guns covering the entire field and preventing them from being carried away. Our loss in killed and wounded is about 50, while nearly one hundred were taken prisoners. The rebel loss is at least 500 or 600 killed and wounded. The number

A SACRED RIGHT .- The Quincy Whig says that at the copperhead meeting recently hold at Springfield, Ill., during the en tire day a banner was prominently displayed at the main stand representing a white man with his foot upon the throat of a prostrate negro, the tongue of the negro protruding from his mouth in the agony of suffication. On this banner was painted-"This the White Man's Right." This banner, it will be noticed, was not simply permitted on the ground because its displayi could not be prevented, but was allowed to flaunt its atrocious emblem where the officers of the meeting had full control.; Where else than in a copperhead assemblage would such an exhibition be allowed to have been made? No severity of comment can add to the simple statement of

THE JAMES makes an extraordinary bend at a point beginning seven miles below Drury's Bluff, and forms a peninsula of which the river circuit is six miles, while the neck of it is less than a third of m mile in width. That neck is Dutch Gap, The peninsula is known as Farrar's Island, and its situation makes it of the highest importance. Under the lee of that Island have been stationed the rebel gunboats, and at various points of the river's course are sunk the rebel obstructions to to the channel. To cut a canal through Dutch Gap will leave the rebel fleet high and dry in the old river hed supposing they choose or are forced to remain—and will open a new channel beyond the obstructions. It is said that above this point [] there are no obstacles except Fort Darling to the passage of our fleet up to Richmond.

Letter from General Sherman.

The following letter: from General Sherman to the Agent of Massachusetts, is good. His recommendation to establish recruiting depots at Macon and Mobile is not a bad joke.

- HEAD'S MIL. DIV. OF THE MISS.,) / -

John A. Spooner, Esq., Agent for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Nashville, Tenn.

Sraw Yours from Chattanooga, July 23th, is received, notifying me of your ap-pointment by your State as Lient. Colonel and Provest Marshal of Georgia, Alabama. and Mississippi, under the act of Congress approved July 4, 1864 to recruit volunteers to be credited to the States respectively.

On applying to Gen. Webster, at Nashville, he will grant your a pass through our lines to those States, and, as I have had considerable experience in those States, would suggest recruiting depote to be established at Macon and Columbus, to black recruits, but you are at liberty to collect white recruits, also. It is a waste of time and money to open rendezvous in Northwest Georgia, for 1 assure you that I have not seen an able bodied man, black or white, there, fit for a soldier, who was not in this army or the one opposed to it.

You speak of the impression going abroad that I am opposed to the organiza-

My opinions are usually very positive, and there is no reason, why you should not know them a Though entertaining profound reverence for our Congress, I do doubt their wisdom in the passage of this law. 1. Because civilian agents about an army are a nuisance.

2. The duty of citizens to fight for their country is too sacred a one to be peddled off by buying up the refuse of other States: 100 c 3. It is unjust to the brave soldiers and volunteers who are fighting, as those who compose this army do, to place them on a par with the class of recruits you are 4. The negro is in a transition state, and is not the equal of the white man. He is liberated from his bondage by act of war; and the armies in the field are entitled to all his assistance in labor and fighting, in addition to the proper quotas 6. This bidding and hartering for re cruits, white and black, has delayed the reinforcement of our armies at the time when such reinforcements would have enabled us to make our successes perma-. The law is; an experiment, which firmly believe will become necessary to vercome the widespread resistance offered us; and I also believe that the universal der the Providence of God it will separate the Sheep from the Goats, and demonstrate what citizens will fight for their country,

No one will infer from this that I am not a friend of the negro as well as the rebellion of the master freed the slave and the armies. I have commanded have con-ducted to safe points more negroes than those of any General Officer in the army; bilt I prefer negroes for pioneers, teamsters, cooks, and servants, others gradually to experiment in the art of the soldier, beginning with the duties of local garrisons, such as we had at Memphis, Vicksburg, Natchez, Nashville and Chattanooga; but I would not draw on the poor race for too large a proportion of its active, athletic young men, for some must remain to seek new homes and provide for the old and young—the feeble and, helpless.

These are some of my peculiar notions, but I assure you they are shared by a large proportion of our fighting men. You may show this to the agents of the other States, in the same business as your elf. I am, &c. T. W. SHERMAN, [signed]. Maj. Gen.

FROM THE UPPER POTOMAC New York, August 23 .- The Herald has the following: Headquarters Averill's Cavalry, in the field, August 22-S.a. m. There was heavy skirmishing yesterday on a portion of General Sheridan's line, which lasted all day. We lost between 100 and 200 in killed and wounded. The enemy's loss is about the same. Heavy firing is going on this morning on the Berryville road and Smithfield pike. The enemy's main force is concentrating on our right, and he seems inclined to fight and advance.

. 5:30 p. m.—Heavy firing was heard to-day in the direction of Charlestown, and the supposition is that an engagement is going on near there. There was a small szirmish yesterday at Dam No. 5, on the Potomac. A rebel reconncitoring party was driven back and prevented from crossing.

We held Martinsburg yesterday until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the rebels entered it, Harry Gilmore's command beng in the advance. During the night we drove the rebels again.

Up to this time no rebel force has crossed the Potomac between Williamsport and Harner's Ferry. BALTIMORE, August 23 .- The following s published in the American this morn-ng, for the substance of which the censor would not permit transmission over the wires last night:

"Harren's Ferry, August 22.—A brisk engagement occurred yesterday two miles beyond Charlestown, between the Army of Western Virginia and the rebol force now in the Shenandoah Valley. The battle commenced at S in the morning by a heavy olumn of rebel infantry attempting to pierce our front near Summit Point, and after a sharp but decisive struggle, our skirmirhers were compelled to give way. The 1st division of General Wilson and General Torbett's cavalry corps were engaged, and reinforced heavily. The movement had evidently for its object the possession of Martinsburg, for at the same ime a false movement was made against our extreme left, but suddenly a body of rebels appeared in front of out right, consisting of the 6th, 8th and 19th Corps. A short, but determined battle took place The 2d division lost heavily-some 300 wounded, 60 or 70 killed and missing. Our right drove the enemy over a mile, and then fell back to the old line until ten o'clock, when the entire army retired towards Halltown, where they now are in line of battle. Rumors are affoat that the rebels are crossing the Potomae at Martinsburg. Cer tain it is that the rebels have possession of Martinsburg.

FROM GRANT'S ARMY.

Washington, August 23.—Gen. War-ren's corps achieved a grand success. On Sunday the rebels attacked, under orders from General Lee that we must be driven from the Weldon railroad at whatever sac-rifice. The rebels were allowed to pass through a gap left in our lines and suffered severely, while their purpose was entirely defeated.

Gen. A. P. Hill is reported mortally wounded, and Gen. Health and Lee, a son of R. E. Lee, killed. The Col. of the 10th Mississippi is a prisoner and wounded. Our loss was 150. We took five sets colors, and some say more; the 3d Delaward took two, and the 70th New York one. Headquarters Army of the Potomac, August 21—Evening—This morning the enemy made a vigorous attack on the 5th Corps, on the left of the Weldon Railroad, at the same place where they were partially ially successful on Friday, but met. with different reception. Our line formed about the same time as on that day, the Vallandigham against McClellan. Ist division being on the extreme left, connecting with the cavalry, which covered the railroad pear Reams' Station. ly this morning heavy cannonading was opened by the enemy from works, further down towards Petersburg: Our guns replied briskly. Neither party, however, did the other any particular damage. About seven o'clock in the morning a force of the enemy were seen moving to make an attack on the 9th Corps, but a force of the day of the series there out of few well directed shells sent them out of sight quicker than they advanced. Short-ly after a column of rebels emerged from the woods on the left of the railroad, form. ing a line, and charging on what they thought our left flank, but which proved to be the left of General Avers' front. The rebels advanced in fine style, with the utmost confidence; evidently thinking their work an easy piece of business, but what was their surprise on discovering a second line behind and extending to the left of the first, from which a row of bayonets glistened, with a battery on the left and one on the right, pouring fire into their ranks. Every discharge made large, yacancies in their line. As soon as they discovered the critical position in which they were placed, the entire command made signs to indicate their willingness to surrender. The order to cease firing pass ed along the breastworks; but as soon they discovered this, a large portion of them broke and ran for the woods, the remainder coming in and surrendering. Our batteries sent several messengers at > our guns covering the entire field and preventing them from being earlied away.

> Our loss in killed and wounded is about 150, while nearly one hundred were taken prisoners. The rebel loss is at least 500 or 600 killed and wounded. The number of rebel prisoners taken is about three hundred and seventy-five, besides twentyfive wounded in the hospitals. ".

Our regiment did excellently. I am and died from over exertion for those she proud of them and of my company. I never saw men cooler, more enger to go forward, or obeying orders with more alacrity while under fire. One of my men was killed; shot through the heart and fell towards the enemy. The men seemed in no wise dismayed, but on the contrary eager to avenge his death. The Chattaneoga Daily Gaztle of the next morning giving a description of the battle, speaks as follows of our regiment: "At this stage the 14th U. S. Colored Infantry. this stage the 14th U. S. A Singular and Mysterious Story.

[From the Berkshire County (Pittsfield, Mass.) Eagle.] A sad death, revealing a more sad and mysterious previous history, occurred at Lansboro, last Tuesday, and has created much excitement in this vicinity. . It appears that some days ago a boy, appearing to be about sixteen years old, applied to Mr. Pettee, agent for J. L. Colby, proprietor of the Briggs Iron Works, for work. Mr. Pettee declined, as all the work he had to give-wheeling and shoveling ore "on the bank" at the furnace-was too hard for a person so frail as the boy, sent. Quite a number are absent on de who gave his name as Henry E. Goodwin, Henry, however, returned and plend so

Total hard that work was given him, and Mr. number of enlisted men belonging to the Pettoe became much interested in his story, which was that he was left an orphan at the age of twelve, and had since supported himself, and was working his way, preparing for college. Hissuperior intelligence. modesty and freedom from profunity and coarsoness, and his great industry, all conspired to win the favor of his employer, who spoke of it to several gentlemen of the village who also became interested in On Friday he was ill, and after lying down a short time in the office of the iron works, went home to his boarding housethe hotel of Charles P. Munson. There he had, in order to be apart from the boarders, taken a couple of blankets and made his room in the attic. There he lay all night and in the morning crawled down stairs and saying he was very ill, asked for a bowl of gruel to be sent up. He then returned and lay all day, getting no gruel and no one going to him. At night he again orawled down stairs, and said that he has been accomplished during the past two was very much worse. During the night the patient continued Chattanooga has been broken in upon and insensible or deranged, and died at seven o'clock Tuesday morning.

Everywhere she conducted herself with extreme modesty and propriety, and showed great industry. At the Lanesboro' works she accomplished as much work or more than any of the men, and was only distinguished from them by avoiding their society and repolling familiarity. Her conduct throughout appears to have been beyond reproach. A fine bowie-knife, ground very sharp, was found among her effects and was doubtless intended for defense against insult. From passages in the letters we infer that she may have been a native of Maine and removed to Wisconsin. Papers of those States will aid in developing this sad story by copying the substance of this article.

The broad doors that once stood wide, leading to the front a hospitable, almost a human smile, are sealed like the lips of the dead. from portico before? The rolls of green washing up the richest foliage, lapse away to the Potomac with its silver flow. At your left, the old garden, that, like deserted Eden, lacks many hands to lop the elletter envelopes, free of charge. Address, Dr. J. wanton growth, yet makes a gorgeous show of flowers. Your eye catches the telegraph wire spun along from tree to tree, and through a crevice in the window- a paralyzed nerve of the old headquarters established here. What tidings from the field have flashed along that wire; what syllables of triumph and defeat. Before you lies Washington; exactly in your front, lifts the monument, a mighty mill-stone to count the ages by. Straight out, beyond, the dome of the capitol, a splendid bubble, as if an angels' breath had blown it. And he who once stood here turned from the scene a traitor! I push open the reluctant door and enter the deserted hall; the floor is covered with dust; the frescoes on the walls, are dim with cobwebs; the arches are stained and battered. A rusty chain dangles from the ceiling, suspending a fragment of a lamp, its light put out forever. The antiered heads of old Virginia deer, trophics, of some forgotten field day, to the merry music of the hounds and the dashing leaps of blooded hunters, yet eling to the walls like sculptures. Paintings are liere, too, that have gone into history; staring enough now, and as literal as a Scotchman, but time has done for them what it does for books and friends and wine,

I open a door and am in the dining room; there stands the table yet, the cloth removed for its old host forever; the table with it, lion's claws, leaving footprints in the dust as you move it, as if the mansion were indeed a haunt for the beasts of the wilderness. Hore, Lafayette sat a guest: here sparkled jest and wine, here rose the song, died out so long ago in sighing, here woman's smile shone round the board now faded out in dying. A scarred side-board of some uncient fashion against the wall : not so did it look in the old days, flashing in the glory of cut-glass, ruby and amber. Do you mark that the doors are double opening here, and the narrow space between the walls? Wine is a truth-teller, they say, and so no syllable over the third bottle could stray beyond this room to ears intent. I catch myself in this dim and shattered place of banquets-alas, 'funeral baked meats' all and my hand cannot restore it. I go from room to room. Here hangs one of old Arrowsmith's nankeen colored maps of North America, with no northwest in it at all, but a symbolic bear, and 'Lo, the poor Indian!' There is a leaf of Virginia history, a picture of Pocahontas. Horo is a stray loiterer of a velvet chair old bereaus full of emptiness; a chest of drawers with a 'till' in the top. I had not seen one in twenty years, and lifted the lid, almost expecting to see my oldfash-ioned mother's gold beads, and the pencilsketch of 'the little boy that died,' for these old mothers, you know, kept their bits of treasures in the 'till.' Gilded pictureframes and nothing in them; a high-nost bedstend big enough for a mill; a broken mirror with a spider watching at the fracture : fragments of marble mantels strown about the floor; the guest-chamber carpetless, comfortless and as cheerless as the cave of Macpelah; the footfall sounds as sharply as the stroke of a hammer.

And so I go from room to room and think of Hogarth's picture of the end of all things, and that it wants only this to complete it. This has been federal headquarters I told you, and traces of the truth remain; oblong boxes marked 'Habana. bottles suspiciously labelled 'Sillery,' and old Tom, riding gloves, tarnished spurs, passes' out of date, rosters of regiments in the front or in heaven; such signs on parlor doors and chamber doors as 'Quartermaster.' 'Adjutant,' No Admittance. A strange jumble it all is, of yesterday and to-day.

Retracing my steps, I go out from the heavy darkened air of the silent room into the glad sunlight where the trees are waving and the birds are singing, as if this was not the Dead Man's Land. Not far from the mansion is the God's here of the family, surrounded by a wall, the grey tablets bearing such names as Randolph, Washington, and others, that sometime had wearers to illustrate and adorn them. Returning to the portico, where the birds so brave are bringing home the dinner, I find a soldier curled up behind the door, and lazily carving a laurel root pipe. 'How do you think old Lee will like the improvements,' he said; 'a Freedman's Village on er, and his house given up to the birds if not to the bats? Lee is dead! I gravely replied, and passed out, but not before I heard the soldier mutter 'He be d-d.'

On Wednesday August 3d, we were ordered to embark on board the transports. Thursday morning a small expedition consisting of a part of the 14th Wis., the 33d Wis., the 81st and 95th Illinois, and the 1st Missouri Battery, started for St., Charles, Ark., where we arrived on Saturday at 3 P. M. Col. J. B. Moore, of the 33d Wis.. is in command of the forces at this point. St. Charles is a new military post, situated on White River, about 80 miles above its mouth, via. the river, and about 30 on an air line. All that has been done here by the way of fortifying and entrenching, has been accomplished during the past two weeks. All of the troops that were here when we arrived, left on the boats that we came on, Our forces at this point number about 1700, present, fit for duty about 1,400. Guerrillas are reported to be plenty in this vicinity. Current reports locate Marmaduke at the head of 20,000 men, encamped on the Arkansas river, about 40 miles from here in a southerly direction. I am of the rumor.

All mail matter sent to this regiment, should be directed via. Cairo to follow the Respectfully Yours, JERONE BURBANK.

The Attack on Dalton. CAMP 14TH U.S. COLORED INFANTRY Chattanooga, Tenn., August 13, 1864. Dear Parents.—The quiet of our life in Chattanooga has been broken in upon and the monotonous digging and delving with shovel and pick upon the fortifications has given place for a short time-to-something more warlike. On the afternoon of the 14th ult., our regiment was ordered to move immediately with two days rations and sixty rounds of ammunition per man. We were ready in half an hour; marched started for Dalton, Georgia, which place was reported besieged by General Wheel- ly with the result above stated, at the er with several thousand cavalry. We rode to within some four miles of Dalton; left the cars at the Buzzard's Roost Gap, and in the morning started for Dalton. Our force consisted of five -infantry regiments and three pieces of artillery, all under command of Major General Steadman, and Colonel S. Wright of raiding notori-

A Singular and Mysterious Story. From the Berkshire County (Pittsfield, Mass.) Lagle. A sad death, revealing a more sad and mysterious previous history, occurred at Lansboro, last Tuesday, and has created much excitement in this vicinity.

It appears that some days ago a boy, ap pearing to be about sixteen years old, applied to Mr. Pettee, agent for J. L. Colby, proprietor of the Briggs Iron Works, for work. - Mr. Pettee declined, as all the work port shows 121 men absent sick, and there he had to give—wheeling and shoveling were 78 present sick on the late of this ore "on the bank" at the furnace—was month, making 199 sick, present and able too hard for a person so frail as the boy, who gave his name as Henry E. Making a total of ing for college. His superior intelligence modesty and freedom from profanity and coarsoness, and his great industry, all conspired to win the favor of his employer, who spoke of it to several gentlemen of the village who also become interested in his appearance. On Friday he was ill, and after lying down a short time in the office of the iron works, went home to his boarding house—the hotel of Charles P. Munson. There he had, in order to be apart from the boarders, taken a couple of blankets and made his room in the attic. There he lay all night and in the morning crawled down stairs and saying he was very ill, asked for a bowl of gruel to be sent up. He then returned and lay allday, getting no gruel and no one going to him. At night he again crawled down stairs, and said that he was very much worse. Mr. Munson then sent word to the Selectmen that they must take care of him, Mr. Whipple and Mr. Colby at once visited him and found him picking up his. clothes preparing to leave, and trembling voilently. They called Dr. Pratt, who administered medicine of which brandy was an ingredient. Henry objected strongly to this, saying that he had never taken it and would not. He finally, however, took it, and, Mr. Colby and Mr. Whipple giving the order, he was comfortably cared for. Dr. Pratt proposed to examine his not prepared to youch for the truthfulness bowels to see if they were not bloated, but Henry objected, the Doctor, not consider-

The next day he was worse, and on Monday the doctor found his case hopeless. He being insensible, the Doctor made an examination of his bowels, and discovered that his nationt was a woman.

He had no previous suspicion of the fact although her symetrical arm, small feet and hands, fine musical voice and superior intelligence, had attracted his attention. During the night the patient continued insensible or deranged, and died at seven

FERNANDO WOOD is the guest of Mr.

The Relies of Lee's Home. We extract from a letter to the Chicago Journal, the following passages, relating to a visit to Arlington,—as it is, with the writer graminiscences of "The Mansion" as it used to be: [] "Lee's old Arlington Mansion is reached at last and you stand on the lofty portico, with its night massive columns o marble. There is nothing light and elegant about it, but all is grand—almostise-vere. The walls are finished in study and patches of it have fallen off here, and there; the panels once filled with figures there; the panets once meet with agures; in relief are empty or defaced; an hundred swallows nests bead the cornices; as with a mourning necklace, and the plaint of young birds and the flutter of wings fall the silence like a speech. wooden shutters are fast closed. The broad doors that once stood wide, leading to the front a hospitable, almost a human smile, arc sealed like the lips of the dead. I feel as I did when standing before the bolted door of a tomb ont Georgetown Heights, bearing a name forever fallen out of common speech.

washing up the richest foliage; lapse away to the Potomac with its silver flow. At your left, the old garden, that, like deserted Eden, lacks many hands to lop the wanton growth, yet makes a gorgeous show of flowers. Your eye catches the telegraph wire spun along from tree to tree, and through a crevice in the window-in paralyzed nerve of the old head quarters established here. What tidings from the field have flashed along that wire what syllables of triumph and defeat...

Before you lies Washington; exactly in your front, lifts the monument, a mighty mill-stone to count the ages by. Straigh out, beyond, the dome of the capitol. splendid bubble, as if an angels breath had blown it. And he who once stood here turned from the scene a traitor! I push open the reluctant door and enter he descried hall; the floor is covered with dust; the frescoes on the walls, are dim with cobwebs; the arches are stained and battered. A rusty chain dangles from the eiling, suspending a fragment of a lamp, its light put out foreyer: The antlered heads of old Virginia deer trophies of some forgotten field day, to the merry music of the hounds and the dashing leans of blooded hunters, yet cling to the walls like sculptures. Paintings are liere, too, that have gone into history; staring enough now, and as literal as a Scotch man, but time has done for them what is does for books and friends and wine.

I open a door and am in the dining room; there stands the table yet, the cloth removed for its old host forever; the table with it, lion's claws, leaving footprints in the dust as you move it, as if the mansion were indeed a haunt for the beasts of the wilderness... Hore, Lafayotte, sat a guest here, sparkled jost and wine; here, rose, the song, died out so long ago in sighing. here woman's smile shone round the board now faded out in dying. A scarred side-board of some ancient fashion against the wall; not so did it look in the old days flashing in the glory of out glass, ruby and amber. Do you mark that the doors are double opening here, and the narrow space between the walls? Wine is truth-teller, they say, and so no syllable over the third bottle could stray beyond this room to ears intent. I catch myself in this dim and shattered place of banquets-alas, 'funeral baked meats' all they seem now—trying to think how they looked who thronged it; who sat here and there and yonder, but the picture is faded

and my hand cannot restore it. I go from room to room. Here hangs one of old Arrowsmith's nankeen colored maps of North America, with no northwest in it at all, but a symbolic bear, and 'Lo, the poor Indian!' There is a leaf of Virginia history, a picture of Pocahontas. Hero is a stray loiterer of a velvet chair; old bereaus full of emptiness; a chest of drawers with a 'till' in the top. I had not seen one in twenty years, and lifted the lid, almost expecting to see my oldfash-ioned mother's gold beads, and the pencilsketch of 'the little boy that died,' for these old mothers, you know, kept their bits of trensures in the 'till.' Gilded pictureold mothers, you know, kept their bits of trensures in the 'till.' Gilded picture-frames and nothing in them; a high-post bedstead big enough for a mill; a broken ture effected a permanent cure, after suffering and dyser-ture; fragments of marble mantels strewn about the fracture; fragments of marble mantels strewn about the fracture; fragments of marble marble markets are fragments of marble markets. about the floor; the guest-chamber carpet-less; comfortless and as cheerless as the cave of Macpelah; the footfall sounds as sharply as the stroke of a hammer.

And so I go from room to room and think of Hogarth's picture of the end of all things, and that it wants only this to complete it. This has been federal headquarters I told you, and traces of the truth remain; oblong boxes marked 'Habana,' bottles suspiciously labelled 'Sillery,' and fold Tom, riding gloves, tarnished spurs, passes out of date, rosters of regiments n the front or in heaven; such signs on parlor doors and chamber doors us 'Quar-termaster,' 'Adjutant,' No Admittance.' A strange jumble it all is, of yesterday and to-day.

Retracing my steps, I go out from the heavy darkened air of the silent room into the glad sunlight where the trocs are way ing and the birds are singing, as if this was not the Dead Man's Land. Not far from the mansion is the God's acre of the family, surrounded by a wall, the grey tablets bearing such names as Randolph, Washington, and others, that sometime and wearers to illustrate and adorn them. Returning to the portice, where the birds so brave are bringing home the dinner, I find a soldier corred up behind the door, and lazily carving a laurel root pipe. 'How do you think old Lee will like the improve ments,' he said; 'a Freedman's Village on one side, a National Cemetery on the other, and his house given up to the birds if not to the bats?' 'Lee is dead! I gravely not to the bats?' replied, and passed out, but not before I heard the soldier mutter 'He be d-d.

WYNKOOP'S ICELAND PECTORAL

. Diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Pulmonary Organs are over provalcut, insidious and dangerous. The prop-orties of a medicine to alleviate, cure, and uproot these omplaints, must be expectorant, anodyne and invig orating, loosening the mucus of the throat, and imparting tone to the entire system. No discovery in medical science over mastered trible class of discussor like Dr. Wynkoop's Iceland Poetoral. It is used with the most astonishing results in all cases of Bronchitis, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Diptheria or Patrid Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, Cougha, Colds, Norvous Irrita-The Rev. J. J. Porrer certifies "that I have used Dr. Wynkoon's Pectoral for several years, myself and in my family, for severe pulmonary complaints, and have recommended it to many others, and have never seen its equal." Roy. J. J. Porren, Brooklyn, N. Y. Hundreds and thousands of important testimonial could be produced, showing its remarkable cures and hat it never fails.

It is composed of pure Iceland Moss, Bulm of Gilead, Peruvian Balsam, Elecampano, Comfrey, Burdock, and other invaluable expectorent and tonic ingredients. It is harmless, prompt and lesting. Invalids and sufferers cannot afford to neglect a trial. Every family should have it. It is remarkable for Group. Full descriptions, recommendations and directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all the principal Druggists.

DIARRHEA AND DYSENTERY.

We have examined a great number of letters from some of the most prominent citizens of Cincionati and Covington, etc., speaking in the highest terms of Dr. Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture for the cure of diarrhosa and dysontery. The letters are too long to Another says he was discharged from the United States service after suffering in the hospital for eight months as incurable, and as a last resource tried Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture. He got well directly and has now entered the army again in good health. One man writes he has cared seven or eight very had cases of diarrhosa and dysentery in the barracks he was in with one bottle of this valuable medicine. In fact we could fill half our paper with similar items from these letters. Why does not our government secure this valuable preparation? Our army ought to be supplied with it. It is but a short time since one of our men lay in a very low condition at one of our Cincinnati Rospitals, his wife was sent for The dectors considered his case an hopeless case. She. lowever, gave him Strickland's Anti-Cholera Mixture, and in three weeks he was able to return home with his wife to New Richmond, O. All these cases right I home speak for themselves. We hope all the soldiers will put a bottle of it in their knapsacks. It may save them or some of their comrades. It is for sale by Druggists at 65 cents per bottle.

After having played on the Piano of Messrs. Knabe & Co., it is impossible not to bear testimony to their fusilities, which have acquired for them the entirent reputation which they enjoy. The Planes of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their qualities. The bass is powerful without harshness, and the upper notes sweet, clear and harmoniously mellow, (chrystaline,) and I do not healtage to express in regard to these dustruments my entire satisfaction and is declare that they are some entire satisfaction, and to declare that they are equal this country by the most celebrated makers.

CHEROKEE INJECTION!

Compounded from Roots, Barks & Leaves. CHEROKER REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic cures all diseases of the urinary organs.

By It is prepared in a highly consentrated form, the dose only being from one to two teaspoonfuls three times per day.

It is directic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the Cherokee Remedy, and should be used in conjunction with that medicine and should be used in conjunction with that medicine in all cases of Gleet, Gonorrhea, Fluor Albus. Its effects are healing, soothing and denuicent, removing all scalding, heat and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

By By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength. and strength

THE GREAT INDIAN MEDICINE COMPOUNDED FROM

This is an affection of the blood, and attacks the sexual organs, linings of the nose, ears, throat, windplpe, and other mucuous surfaces, making its appearance in the form of ulcers. Helmhold's Extract Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and removes all scaly cruptions of the skin, giving to the complexion a clear and healthy color. It being prepared expressly for this class of complaints, its blood-purifying properties are preserved to a greator extent than any other preparation or Sarsaparilla. This medicine is a simple vegetable extract, as ne on which all can rely, as it has been used in our ractice for many years, and with thousands treated, thus not failed in a single instance. Its curative pow-re have been sufficient to guin victory over the most ers have been sufficient to gain victory over the most stubborn case.
